The Ending You Deserve

AMELIE LUNA

THIS IS CARLYLE'S STORY.

HIS FACE STARTED TO BLEED PURPLE
INK WHEN HE WAS STRESSED.

WHICH HAPPENED OCCASIONALLY.

OF COURSE HE HAD IMMEDIANTLY
GOTTEN HELP FOR THAT MATTER, BUT
THE RANDOM BLEEDING-ATTACKS
KEPT ON BOTHERING HIM.

HE GOT IT IN COLLEGE.

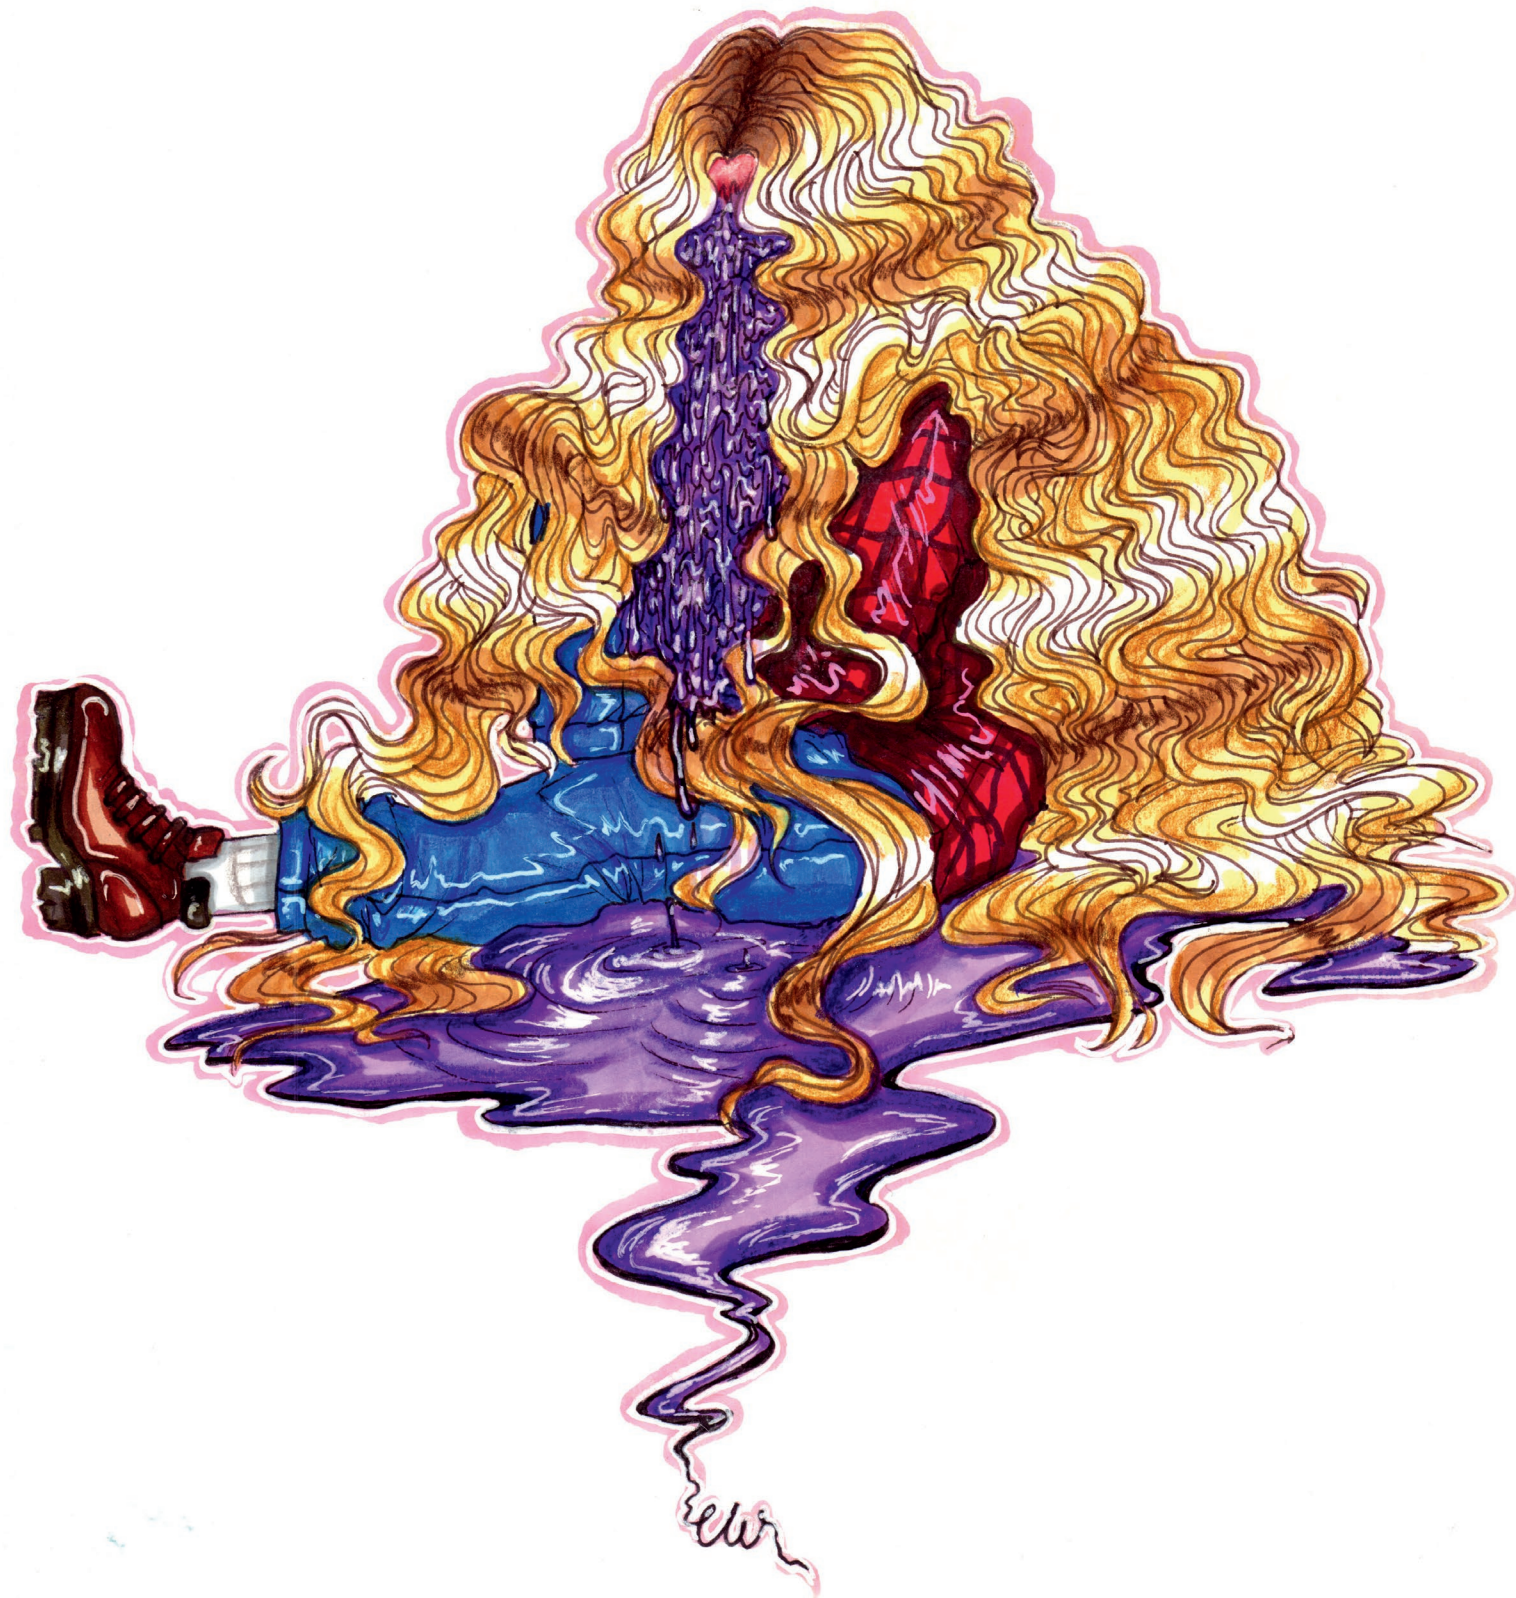

HE GOT IT IN PUBLIC.

HE EVEN GOT IT AT A FRIENDS
SLEEPOVER ONCE.

DARK LIQUID ALL OVER BABY BLUE
BEDSHEETS.

PEOPLE ALWAYS STARED AT HIM,
TURNED THEIR HEADS IN DISGUST
AND SOME EVEN LAUGHED. OVER THE
YEARS AND BECAUSE OF CARLYLE'S
HARD WORK, THE ATTACKS GOT BETTER.
THE COMMENTS OF OTHERS DIDN'T.
„HE'S JUST HAVING A LITTLE CRISIS“
„I COULDN'T LOOK INTO A MIRROR
IF I LOOKED LIKE THAT.“
„HE'S BEING DRAMATIC, NO ONE'S MISERABLE FOR THAT LONG.“
HE ALWAYS HAD A HARD TIME LETTING PEOPLE KNOW HOW HE FELT, BUT ONE
DAY (JUNE 21st TO BE EXACT) HE MANAGED TO EXPRESS HIMSELF PRETTY DAMN WELL.
„FUCK YOU.“
THAT WAS THE TIME HE DECIDED TO
FINALLY LEAVE THIS TOWN.

HE TRIED OUT A LIFE AT A COAST.
TOO MUCH FISH.

HE TRIED TO BUILD A HOUSE ON A
MOUNTAIN. ACTUALLY, HEIGHTS CAN BE SCARY.

HE TRIED LIVING IN A DESERT.
TOO MUCH SAND.

HE WANTED TO FIND A HOME THAT GAVE HIM WARMTH, ACCEPTANCE AND
MAYBE EVEN AN OVEN. HE DID.

A COMFORTABLE LOOKING COTTAGE
SOMEWHERE DEEP IN A LONG
FORGOTTEN FOREST.

THEY OFTEN HAD BREAKFAST.

AND GENERALLY COULDN'T STOP TALKING.
EVER.
